

Murdock Goldenberg Schneider & Groh LPA

Areas of Practice

Anti-Trust

The market economy in this country is based upon free and fair business competition, which provides consumers with the best products at the best prices. Companies violate anti-trust laws when they prevent lawful competition by abusing monopoly power, fixing prices, refusing to deal with manufacturers or suppliers, requiring that a product or service can only be purchased with another product or service, or conspiring with other companies for such illegal purposes. MGSG has partnered with other anti-trust attorneys and law firms to protect and recover compensation for individuals and classes of purchasers and state attorneys general.

Class Actions

A class action is a court procedure wherein claims that similarly impact large numbers of people are handled in one lawsuit as an efficient alternative to one or more courts handling hundreds or thousands of individual lawsuits. A Plaintiff in a class action is called a "Class Representative" and sues on his or her own behalf as well as on behalf of all persons who are "similarly situated" and who have suffered harm or injury as a result of the same conduct by the Defendant. The Class Representative protects his or her own interests as well as the interests of each class member. In order to qualify as a Class Representative, the Plaintiff must meet certain requirements: (1) the Plaintiff's situation must be typical of the situation facing the other members of the class, (2) the Plaintiff must be generally familiar with the case and have a basic understanding of the dispute, and (3) the Plaintiff must be represented by competent and experienced counsel. Class Representatives need not be experts. Rather, anyone who has suffered a loss common to many others may qualify. MGSG has successfully represented millions of individuals nationwide by successfully litigating class actions. If you feel that you have a claim and you suspect that others have similar claims, please contact MGSG by clicking below. There is no charge for this type of consultation.

Consumer Rights & Safety

Consumers are entitled to safe products, fair sales practices and accurate representations relating to the qualities or characteristics of a product or service. Yet, consumers fall victim to deceptive, unfair and unconscionable sales and advertising practices in many consumer transactions. MGSG is committed to representing and protecting consumers who have been taken advantage of due to their inability to understand the terms of a transaction and to pursuing actions against sellers of goods and services who know the consumer cannot afford them or know the consumer is unable to receive substantial benefit from the purchase. MGSG is experienced in representing individual and classes of consumers who suffer damages from unsafe products (see Product Liability area of practice), illegal lending and billing practices, and fraudulent sales and advertising.

Employment/Labor

Every employee is entitled to a safe work place and to a work environment that is free of discrimination and harassment. Employers must comply with laws that regulate wages, hours and benefits. Yet, many employees suffer injury or harassment at work, suffer employment discrimination because of their race, gender, age or disability, suffer illegal treatment in their rate of pay and hours worked, and suffer the denial of severance, pension, health and other employment benefits. MGSG will investigate your claims, advise you of your options, and represent you to protect your rights and recover fair compensation from all responsible parties.

Personal Injury and Wrongful Death

The experienced attorneys at MGSG understand the significant physical, emotional and financial damage that can result from serious accidents. Most victims are overwhelmed by the sudden life changes and challenges following an accident, including dealing with insurance representatives, medical bills, wage loss, and the anguish and grief of recovery. MGSG will represent you to relieve you of many of those burdens so that you can focus on your health and your family. MGSG will be your zealous advocates to investigate your claims, protect your rights, and maximize the compensation to which you are entitled from all responsible parties.

Product Liability

Thousands of people are injured each year by unsafe products, drugs, equipment and machinery. MGSG works with experts and uses considerable resources to investigate whether a manufacturer violated its duty to provide safe products to consumers, and to seek fair compensation for innocent victims of defective products. MGSG believes that responsible product liability litigation can benefit all of society by resulting in safer products.

Securities

Investors in our market economy are entitled to accurate statements and information relating to a company's products, performance and earnings, and to the company's commitment to proper accounting practices. Yet, individual and institutional investors are unable to make wise and informed investment decisions due to false and misleading information. MGSG has partnered with other firms to recover damages suffered by individual class and state attorneys general who made investment decisions based upon the artificial inflation of the market price of a security resulting from a company's illegal statements to analysts, brokers and the investing public, and in a prospectus, offering, press release or other public statement.

Toxic Torts

The unfortunate reality of today's world is that many people are exposed to toxic environmental hazards. Workers or the general public may be exposed to toxic levels of chemicals or other substances. Children may be exposed to lead-based paint hazards. The reality is that these toxic exposures cause real harm. For example, lead poisoning is one of the most common health problems for America's children. Lead is a known neurotoxin and studies show that even low levels of lead in a child's bloodstream can cause permanent brain damage and IQ loss. MGSG represents families and children injured by lead poisoning in litigation against landlords, property owners, real estate agents, and employers who expose their workers to lead hazards. MGSG also represents thousands of residents impacted by the recent toxic release of styrene gas from a rail tank car. MGSG not only has experienced litigators for these types of cases, but also has attorneys with Masters Degrees in environmental science and engineering which enables the Firm to offer both legal and scientific expertise necessary to prosecute these complex cases. If you feel that you have suffered harm, injury or other damage from these types of exposures, please contact MGSG. There is no charge for this type of consultation.

Other

Murdock Goldenberg Schneider & Groh have represented numerous individuals and companies in other litigation, including actions for the misappropriation of intellectual property and trade secrets (ESS v. Provident Bank); tortious interference with commercial contracts and business relationships; injunctions to enforce Public Records and Open Meetings laws to enable MGSG's client, the Cincinnati Enquirer, access to court documents and to meetings held by the University of Cincinnati.